Purpose and Philosophy

We believe that anyone who is willing to apply him/herself to the task, can gain the necessary capabilities to become a qualified PADI Open Water Scuba Instructor. Any person willing to make that commitment should in return receive a commitment.

Our Course Director understands that for a person to receive the most from their training experience, some conditions must be met. First, there must be individualized attention given to each participant. To receive this attention the classes must be kept small. Next, there needs to be a relaxed atmosphere without all the undue stress and anxiety usually present in instructor level training. Our Instructor Development Course is structured in length so that every learning capability is accounted for. We will set a personal program for each and every candidate to ensure their success.

This gives us the extra ability to enhance your knowledge and build your confidence. Our years of experience in the sport and technical diving education, combined with the PADI Education System, gives you access to the very best education that is available in today's industry.

PADI IEs are conducted only by PADI International Headquarters personnel who are in no way affiliated with us. However, we can arrange the logistics for and IE for you immediately after completion of any IDC program. Fees for the PADI IE are the candidate's responsibility.
